The Future is Now: The Most Collectible and Desirable Computer on the Planet

Could the world's first microprocessor, The Intel™ 4004 adorn your walls? It surely looks like it. The future is one click away: the first artwork based on the most iconic microprocessor in history has been listed on JamesEdition. It is called The 4004 Reborn - Grey Traced 4004 Invention Piece, and it's been assembled from the extremely rare components of those first computers.
